

A CROSS COUNTRY RACE for VITAMINS

• Dietetic research has promoted the race for food values. The fresher the fruit or vegetable, the richer its vitamin content. That's why western shippers specify Erie in the rush across the continent to eastern markets. • Eastbound from Chicago, on the fastest and most reliable schedule to New York and New England markets, Erie refrigerator trains speed daily, carrying more western perishable products to these distribution points than any other railroad. This marked preference for Erie service indicates its ability to deliver your shipments on time and in good order. The Erie representative in your territory will show you how to cut your shipping costs.
