359,915 School Boys...and Your Business

During the school year 1941-42, there were enrolled in the trade and industrial classes of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York, a total of 359,915 students.

To every industry this is important.

First, it gives definite assurance that the Erie Area in postwar years, will be able to offer a plentiful supply of young, skilled, thoroughly trained labor.

Second, when compared with the total United States trade and industrial class enrollment of 850,597, these six states have an unusually large proportion of these students—nearly one-half the National total.

And last, here is a very real indication that both the people and the youth of the Erie Area are confident of a tremendous industrial future. They both realize bigger things to come, and are taking sound educational steps to prepare for them.

You, too, can prepare to have a part in the growth of the Industrial Heart of America. Any special information you desire, and your copy of the new Erie Industrial Map will be sent you free of charge or obligation. Write to George F.
